From the Nas ville Dispatch. Arming Negroes in the Southwest

Adjutant-General Thomas of the War Department is on a tour among the various army corps of the Southwest, to expound the views of the Administration in reference to arming negroes, and to initiate a new programme. He commenced at Lake Providence, La., two or three weeks ago, delivering an address to the soldiers there, in which he stated that he came "with full authority from the President of the United States to announce the policy which, after mature deliberation, has been determined upon by the wisdom of the nation;" that he "came from Washington clothed with the fullest power in this matter;" that he could "not us if the President of the United States were himself present;" and that he was directed to refer nothing to Washington, but to act promptly." General Thomas then proceeds to say :

On the first day of January last the President issued his Proclamation declaring that from that day forward all the slaves in the States th a in rebellion should be free. You know that vast numbers of these slaves are are within your borders, inside the lines of this army. They some into your camps and you cannot but recoive them The nuti orities in tunates have on different occasions Every confidence felt with regard to been turned from us, and their applications for admission within our lines have been relused by our officers and soldiers.

This is not the way to use freed men. The question came up in Washington, "What is best to be done with this rent that Grant is retreating towards unfortunate race?" They are comern people against receiving large Pascagula, June 2.-I learn from numbers of the colon d race. Some
